

Invitation to the conference of SCYR 2017

Dear colleagues!

Let me invite you to active participation at the 17th Scientific Conference of Young Researchers, to be held on May 16th 2017 in Herľany.

The aim of the conference is to present research results, mainly of PhD students. More than 100 graduates and students of FEEI meet regularly and present themes of their PhD dissertation to their supervisors and other pedagogues. This conference is a platform for interdepartmental discussion of PhD students with a unique possibility for their work presentation and feedback receiving, and it contributes to improve the quality of postgradual research, dissertation projects and the entire doctoral study at FEEI.

It is a tradition that the all-day event at the university establishment in Herľany, where the contributions will be presented, is marked by the intimate spirit. From year to year the SCYR conference is holding the traditional reputation of the pleasant and at the same time scholastic and inspirational meeting of the FEEI TUKE students.

Conference is divided in two thematic units: EEE and IT.

We look forward to your participation!

prof. Ing. Alena Pietriková, CSc.